

Are you passionate about creating safer workplaces and making a real impact in industry?
Join Linde Gas, a global leader in industrial gases and engineering, as a Safety Specialist in Dunaújváros, Hungary, and help shape a culture where safety comes first.

What you will enjoy doing

- Implementing and promoting Health, Safety & Environment (HSE) standards and policies
- Conducting site inspections, safety walks, and audits
- Managing risk assessment and hazard identification processes
- Supporting safe operations involving gas systems, pressure equipment, confined spaces, and fire/explosion risks
- Investigating incidents and identifying preventive measures
- Delivering safety trainings, toolbox talks, and emergency drills
- Supporting projects, operational start-ups, and commissioning activities
- Contributing to ISO 45001 compliance and continuous improvement initiatives

What makes you great

- A degree in Occupational Health & Safety, Engineering, or another technical field
- Some professional experience in HSE, safety, engineering, manufacturing, or industrial operations
- Strong knowledge of health & safety principles and regulations
- Professional communication skills in Hungarian and English
- Confidence in using Microsoft Office and digital reporting systems
- A proactive mindset and a genuine commitment to workplace safety

Why you will love working with us

Our compensation package consists of several elements such as extensive fringe benefit-system, employee discount programs, and interest free company loan for housing. In the recent years we have implemented an employee well-being program focusing on flexible working arrangements, digitalization, employee experience, extended training opportunities, talent development program and community events.
At Linde, the sky is not the limit. If you're looking to build a career where your work reaches beyond your job description and betters the people with whom you work, the communities we serve, and the world in which we all live, at Linde, your opportunities are limitless.

Be Linde.
Be Limitless.

Have we inspired you? Let´s talk about it

We are looking forward to receiving your application via our online job market, available on the QR code below, or via e-mail to: ivett.nemeth-gocze@linde.com